

Regional banking

A lot of the regional industries and services are a lifeblood to our nation as a whole and supporting those who work in and through these areas.

Banks make sufficient profits to enable them to service these people with a practical and helpful presence.

I DO NOT agree with the reduction of this as has been occurring.

I DO support the continuation and extension of a physical banking presence and support the Postal Banking initiative to help in this regard.

Yours sincerely
Robyn Manning